Ground Breaking News

Welty Construction Company and The City of Waller celebrated the official groundbreaking of the greatly anticipated new Waller City Hall on January 19.

Mayor Danny L. Marburger opened the groundbreaking ceremony by introducing members of the Waller City Council and Staff as well as multiple community members. The mayor thanked those who were in attendance for the event including John Castilla, President Welty Construction Company and Rick Brown the Senior Superintendent on the project.

The City Hall project is being designed by Corgan Architects and will house City Council Chambers, City Administration Offices, Public Works Department, and the Municipal Court. It also includes a new Civic Plaza and an addition to the Civic Center complex. Ground work on the project began November 2018 and is expected to be completed in the Fall of 2019.
